

Sponsor BEIPI Workshop

22 January 2026, Central London

The Built Environment Infection Prevention Initiative (BEIPI) is a specialist interest group of the Healthcare Infection Society.

Our purpose is to bring together infection prevention and control (IPC) specialists, designers, engineers, construction professionals and policymakers to reduce healthcare-associated infections (HCAIs) linked to the built environment and reduce the immediate threat of antimicrobial resistance (AMR).

About the workshop

Building Safer Hospitals: Workshop to develop practical, multidisciplinary solutions - in collaboration with Institute of Healthcare Engineering & Estate Management (IHEEM), the Chartered Institution of Building Services Engineers (CIBSE), Architects for Health (AfH) and the NHS New Hospitals Programme (NHP).

This invite-only workshop will explore how infection prevention principles can be embedded into the design, construction, and maintenance of healthcare environments. The workshop will build on the findings of the BEIPI Prospectus, launched in October 2025, and will produce recommendations for government, NHS England, and the construction sector. The audience will consists of:

- Senior representatives from NHS England and UK Health Security Agency.
- Infection prevention and control leaders, healthcare architects, and engineers
- Members of professional societies across design, estates, and healthcare
- Industry innovators shaping the future of healthcare environments

Why Sponsor?

As a BEIPI sponsor, your organisation will be aligned with a nationally recognised initiative driving change in how hospitals are designed and built to protect patients and staff. Demonstrate corporate responsibility by contributing to a high-impact initiative that benefits patients and healthcare workers alike.

We are offering a very limited number of sponsorship packages to industry partners who share our vision for safer healthcare infrastructure:

Sponsor – £3,000 (+VAT)

- Recognition as Lead Sponsor on all workshop communications and materials.
- Attendance for one representative to participate in the workshop conversations influencing policy.
- Opportunity to deliver a 2-minute “Dragon’s Den” style pitch to the audience, showcasing your innovation or expertise.
- Your branding on the follow up report/whitepaper including communications advertising the release.
- Network with speakers and delegates.
- Priority consideration for involvement in future BEIPI activities and publications.
